BOSTONS BAFFLED BY WILTSE.

NEW YORKS AGAIN HAVE EASY TIME AT THE HUB.

With Good Hitting and Pitching They Outclass Their Opponents-Rear Guard Rivals Engage in 13-Inning Game in Brooklyn and Philadelphias Win.

While the Chicagos and Cincinnatia are holding each other back the New York Na-tionals are strengthening their hold on first place. The Chicagos beat the Reds yesterplace. The Chicagos beat the Reds yester-day, and the New Yorks kept up their winning spurt in Boston. Brooklyn was shut out by Philadelphia in a game of thirteen innings. The results:

NEW YORK (N. L.), 10; BOSTON (N. L.), 1.
BOSTON, June 22.—The New Yorks defeated Bostons this afternoon without so much turning a hair. It was all so easy that game was almost wholly devoid of inest. Fisher was the biggest kind of a ch for the Gothamites, and they pounded delivery all over the lot at will.
In the other hand, Wiltse pitched good Il most of the time, only three singles being de off his delivery, but at stages he was
d. Every time Capt. Tenney appeared the plate with his stick Wiltse kindly preted him with a free pass to first, but these e offerings failed to materialize into anyng known in baseball annals but left on NEW YORK (N. L.), 10; BOSTON (N. L.), 1.

The fun started in the first inning. Breamahan was up and drew a base on balls. Browne cracked the sphere to Abbaticchio who put Bresnahan out at second and left Browne safe at first. Browne then stole second and scored on Devlin's single. McGann was out, third to first and Mertes doubled, but was left at second on Dahlen's out, short offset was out, find to first and alteres doubled, but was left at second on Dahlen's out, short to first.

In the second there was nothing doing, but in the third Bresnahan doubled, went to second on Browne's out and scored on Devlin's single. The latter was caught attempting to steal second, and Mertes fouled out. Another tally was added in the fourth. Dahlen singled, took second on Gilbert's out and scored on Warner's single.

Again in the sixth two more runs were added to the score. Dahlen and Gilbert were easy outs. Warner singled and Wiltse was hit by a pitched ball. Bresnahan banged out his second double, scoring both Warner and Wiltse. In the seventh Devlin doubled. McGann sacrificed and was out, pitcher to first advancing Devlin to third. Mertes singled and Devlin scored.

In the ninth, just to make things interesting after Browne had filed out and Devlin had been disposed of. McGann added to his batting record by planking the first ball pitched over the left field fence for a home run. Mertes followed with a single and stole second. Dahlen hit to Delehanty, who, instead of throwing to first to get his man, attempted to run down Mertes. He falled and took a header over second. Mertes then stole third, and both he and Dahlen scored on Gilbert's single to deep right, making three runs for this inning, or a total of ten for the game. The score:

PHILADELPHIA (N. A.), 1: BROOKLIN, 0.

For twelve innings there was not a run in yesterday's game at Washington Park. The philadelphias scored the only run of the day is the balf of the thirteenth. Dooin drew four balls, Hall sacrificed, and as Dooin started to steal third Huiswitt cracked a single to left, on which Dooin came home. It was a case of hit and run working well. Dooin hardly would have reached the plate on the hit had he not started to steal.

Garvin and McPherson had the batters on the run, and what brisk fielding there was was needed to relieve a tedious set-to. The Brooklyns fell down on several good chances to score. The best was in the seventh inning There was a man on first and one on third and nobody out. But Garvin fanned, McCormick was run down between third and home on Sheckard's grounder to Gleason, and Lunley struck out. Lumley hit for two bases in the twelfth, but there were two out, and call dillon could not get the ball beyond

Doyle and Gleason, ex-New Yorkers, both played rattling good ball. The score: Totals. . . 1 5 39 17 S Totals. . . . 0 6 39 16 4

AMERICAN LEAGUE. Batting Battle in Washington Wen by

New Yorks. Griffith and his New York Americans con inue to play the fastest sort of ball, beating Washington again yesterday in a batting game. Boston beat Philadelphia in another game of hard batting. The Bostons appear o be pretty good despite the hysteria following the trade of Dougherty to New York. Chicago beat Cleveland and St. Louis won from Detroit. The last three games were decided by one run. The results:

NEW YORK (A. L.), 11; WASHINGTON, 6.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—With Manager Griffith opposed to Orth as pitcher to-day, an unusually heavy batting contest resulted in which the Washingtons made valiant but ineffective efforts to land a much needed victory. Both pitchers were hit hard in streaks, but Orth was much the worse sufferer from keavy bombardments, being hit hard enough in the fourth inning to take all the nerve out of him.

For three innings Orth was an enigma, allowing only one hit, but with Washington leading 3 to 0, and threatening to win the game, the visitors waded into his delivery in the fourth inning and batted the ball to all parts of the field for five two-baggers, a triple and two singles, scoring seven runs, enough to win the game. Dougherty opened with a single, Fultz doubled, Williams filed to Stahl, Anderson doubled, Ganzel singled, McGuire doubled, Osteen filed to Donovan, Thoney trebled, Griffith doubled, Dougherty doubled for his second time at bat in this inning and Fultz-grounded out. This effort somewhat appeads the New Yorks, and they were satisfied with seven more hits and four more runs during the remainder of the game.

BELDAME WINS THE MERMAID.

CRACK OCTAGON FILLY GALLOPS IN FRONT ALL THE WAY.

Amelia and Buttons Carry E. R. Thomas's Colors to Victory—Blandy First by a Narrow Margin—Coppella Takes Distance Event on the Grass.

Beldame, the three-year-old Octagon Bella Donna filly, who is generally regarded as the greatest mare in training, romped away with the Mermaid Stakes for fillies of her age, one mile and a furlong, at Sheepshead Bay yesterday. Victorious in the Ladies' Stakes and the Gazelle Stakes, in addition to the state of the stakes and the Carter Handigan addition to winning the Carter Handicap and running third in the Metropolitan at Westchester, Beldame was a sure thing yesterday's race, the layers quoting what was really a liberal price of 11 to 20 against her. S. S. Brown's Audience, who was in receipt of five pounds from Beldame, was heavily backed for the place, with Graceful and Possession also backed both ways.

Beldame rushed away from the post at a great rate, O'Neill keeping her under a tight pull. She was full of running and none of the others could even get within striking distance of her. In the stretch she was just buck jumping and she came home on the bit eight lengths to the good beaten. Little Em. 50 to 1, ran far above ex-pectations and secured the place by two and a half lengths from Possession, 12 to 1, who was shut off several times and was finally taken to the outside for the run home. path was four lengths away, with Audience next and Graceful last.

The form players were in poor shape as to their selections for the handicap at six and a half furlongs on the main track. They and a half furlongs on the main track. They made August Belmont's Mizzen, the top weight, a favorite, at 13 to 5, but the Hastings colt, after being pinched off at the outset, came home a tailender. E. R. Thomas's Lady Amelia, 6 to 1, and T. L. Wall's Lady Uncas, 15 to 1, went to the front instantly, followed by L. V. Bell's Grenade, backed down to fives. Lady Amelia, who was giving and the race was scale weight to everything in the race, was a whirlwind and won easily by three lengths up by John Daly's Glennellie, 100 pounds, in 1901. Lady Uncas lasted long enough to take the place by half a length from R. T. Wilson Jr.'s Montreson, 10 to 1. Grenade, who was very tired in the stretch, was two and a half lengths away.

H. M. Ziegler's Candida, 6 to 1, well tipped and backed, won the first race, for maiden two year old fillies, five furlongs, Futurity course. She went to the front at the bend in the track and had a length and a half over William Astor Chanler's Novena, 9 to 5' favorite, by a head. The time was 1:01 2-5.

In the third event, for two-year-olds, at five and a half furlongs, main track, proved to be a close shave for Newton Bennington's Blandy, 4 to 5 favorite. John E. Madden's Councilman, 5 to 2, started off to make a dazzling runaway of it, but he curled up in the stretch, when E. R. Thomas's Niblick, 6 to 1, challenged. Then Blandy rushed up on the outside, and in a hot drive he took the race by a short head in 1:08. Niblick having five lengths over Councilman.

H. B. Duryea's Mercury, a recent graduate from the maiden class, was a prohibitive favorite in the fifth race at a mile, closing at 9 to 20. E. R. Thomas's Buttons was played at the last moment at 3 to 1 to beat him. Buttons took a commanding lead at the start and Hildebrand, who rode Mercury, let him go shead, believing that the Thomas horse stretch. But in this he was mistaken, for H. Phillips kept Buttons close to the rail and then drove him home, a weary winner by a head in 1:40 1-5. Mercury was four lengths in front of Akela. Hyland was backed to win the last race, at Hyland was backed to win the last race, at a mile and a quarter on the grass, as if it was all over. A big field went to the post, with half a dozen good things on the tip of the tongue and Hyland the choice at 6 to 5. The tongue and Hyland the choice at a to. In the favorite was pocketed soon after the get-away and Hildebrand was unable to get him clear until it was too late to be in the money. Nigrette was in front to the stretch turn, where she blew up. Then Mattic Corbett's turn, where she blew up. Helt state to the state of the she will be she will b successful.

E. R. THOMAS HAS A RIG WINNING DAY AT SHEEPSHEAD.

Joe Yeager Drops Close to $50,000, In cluding a $25,000 Bet on Mercury Other Operations-Highball Back-Irish Lad Works Mile and Half in 2:36 E. R. Thomas continued his successful play at Sheepshead Bay yesterday after-noon. It was supposed that he was on his World's Fair Handicap next Saturday, but track early, saving he would not leave for the Mound City until this afternoon. proceeded to make himself felt in the ring, proceeded to make himself left in the ring, beginning with the second race, when his filly, Lady Amelia, came home in front. Mr. Thomas bet enough on her to win $30,000. Joe Yeager laying him one bet of $8,000 to $1,000. He also had a solid wager on Lady Uncas a place, getting $ to 1 in both instances. He played Niblick, straight and place in the third event, and came within a head of dealing the layers another hard knock. In the fifth race, his partner, Alex Shields, placed $3,000 on Buttons to beat Mercury and got 3 to 1. It was generally estimated that Mr. Thomas cleaned up close to $40,000 on the

Joe Yeager and his turf associate, Frank respective merits of Mercury and Buttons in the fifth race. Yeager said Mercury, with Hildebrand up, looked like the surest of sure things. Lanterman, on the other hand, declared he could not see how Mercury, who had only just gotten out of the maiden class, should be a 9 to 20 favorite with such a seasoned campaigner as Buttons to beat.

tended to wager $25,000 on Mercury, regardless of the price. Lanterman told him tha such a play was sheer folly, and in order to back up his argument Yeager's partner be $4,000 on Buttons at 3 to 1. Yeager went shead with his $25,000 wager just the same and after the race Lanterman remarked:

Yeager also dropped $3,000 on Kiameshi in the first race and $10,000 more on Hyland in the last. He has succeeded in putting a crimp in the bundle he took from the future can Derby. His losses yesterday were in the neighborhood of $50,000. But Yeager was not the only big player to lose on Mercury. George Wheelock bet $5,000 on the Meddler three-year-old, while John Walters, who generally handles the biggest clubhouse commissions, placed $10,000 on him, it was said. Walters also made a plunge bet on Hyland. His commission on Mercury's stable mate, Whorler, was about $3,000 in the handicap. Wheelock ost $2,500 on Mizzen in this race.

was about $3,000 in the handicap. Wheelock lost $2,500 on Mizzen in this race.

Newton Bennington bet only $750 on Blandy to win the third race, but he went to his great mare Beldame with a $5,000 commission, which was like picking up $2,500 on the sidewalk. While 11 to 20 was the closing price against Beldame when the bugle sounded, the mare actually went back to 3 to 5 just before the gate was sprung, as M. L. Hayman played Graceful heavily, the odds tumbling from 20 to 1 to twelves. The followers of Hildebrand also backed Possession down three points to twelves. Billy Porter, who bets for R. Tucker, trainer for S. S. Brown, placed $1,000 each way on Audience. A world of money was wagered on this filly a place at 7 to 10.

Jimmy McCormick framed up what was intended to be a characteristic killing with L. V. Bell's Grenade in the second race. The 8t. Gatien three-year-old, who had a strong pull at the weights, had shown some lightning work in his trials, and was backed down from 20 to 1 to fives and fours. It was said that Mr. Bell's commission amounted to $6,000, while several other heavy speculators went to the supposed good thing with confidence. But Grenade was a most effective money burner.

John E. Madden, and his friends, including the Drakes-Gates combination, poured shousands into the ring on Councilman in the third race. It looked as if they would cash, too, when the Approval colt had a lead of four lengths on the turn, but after that the previous of the five champion, we should not be turn, but after that to prove the province of the five champion, and the champion of the five champion, while our courses remained to the five champion.

John E. Madden and his friends, including the Drakes-Gates combination, poured thousands into the ring on Councilman in the third race. It looked as if they would cash, too, when the Approval colt had a lead Burralo, June 22.—The talent split even on the races to day, three favorites winning. The weather was clear and track heavy.

First Race—Six furlongs—Et Tu, Brute, 108 (McKinney), 3 to 5, won; Scarfell, 111 (Wonderly), 8 to 5, second; Rusk, 108 (M. Johnson), 80 to 1, third. Time, 1173 -5. Stone Arabia also ran.

Second Race—Five furlongs—Basil, 107 (M. Head), 5 to 2, second; Lerida, 99 (Finnegan), 10 to 1, third. Time, 1:06. Bonnie Sue, Mistress of Rolls and Loney Haskell also ran.

The Race—Five furlongs—Puck, 105 (W. Third Race—Five furlongs—Puck, 105 (W. Third Race—Five furlongs—Puck, 107 (Croghan), Daly), 4 to 1, won; George Perry, 107 (Croghan), Daly), 4 to 1, won; George Perry, 107 (Croghan), Stable, which won two races at Morris Park end of the long procession.

It was a disastrous day all round for the public, the books winning heavily, especially over the defeat of Hyland, who carried more money than any of the other favorites. Highball arrived from Chicago yesterday morning in the care of his trainer, Bud May W. M. Scheftel, his owner, stopped off at Buffalo, but will be here to-day. May said Highball ran a grand race in the Derby and was perfectly handled by Fuller. He said the colt had stood the journey East in good shape and would resume training immediately.

Highball will be a starter in the Brighton Handicap, according to present plans.

Irish Lad worked a mile and a half just after the sixth race yesterday in 2:36 flat. It was a "prep" for the Advance Stakes on Saturday. Hildebrand, wearing Hyland's colors, had the mount, and the Candlemas colt wore no blinkers. A crowd of turf sharps watched the trial with interest and noted the fact that Irish Lad tried repeatedly to run out. The performance was not impressive by any means, as the colt was all out at the end, finishing with his ears pinned back.

When the numbers and the jockeys' names for the Mermaid Stakes were being hoisted, the number of E. R. Thomas's Dimple was included. Messrs. Thomas and Shields were surprised, for they believed Dimple had been scratched early in the afternoon. Alexander Shields hurried into the stewards' stand and explained that Willie Shields, who is in St. Louis with Hermis, usually attended to such matters, and that his brother, John Shields, had simply forgotten to withdraw the filly in time. As Dimple was over at Gravesend, there was nothing left for the stewards to do but order her withdrawn. But they fined John Shields $200 for his for-

Beldame, according to her owner, will turn out to be a second Imp. She has made a clean sweep of the three-year-oldefilly Stakes so far, and is eligible for the Brighton Oaks and the Alabama at Saratoga. The turf sharps were surprised when the layers opened her at 1 to 2, for they had looked for

Jesse Brown, a steward of the Jockey Club, and a prominent stockholder in the Washington Jockey Club, died at his home in Washington last Tuesday night, after an illnessof a week. He usually acted as a steward at the Saratoga meeting and, though not an owner of thoroughbreds, was always a factor in the government of the turf. The Jockey Club stewards have taken up the sheets of the layers covering the racing at Gravesend on May 28 and 27. It was said yesterday that this action had something to do with the recent circulation of counterfeit $100 bills. But there also was a rumor that the alleged in and out running of certain horses was under investigation, together with the existing relations between a noted plunger and a crack jockey.

PHILADELPHIA, June 22.—By winning to-day's pole game the Foxhunters of Bryn Mawr will meet the Bryn Mawr first team in the final game on Friday for the Gough-acres cup at Bala. The Foxhunters to-day played the country club first team and won by the score of 9/2 club first team and won by the score of $2,502 goals.

According to the handicape, the country club four silowed the Foxhunters one goal. While the game to-day was not a rough encounter as polo games go, yet there were accidents, which, happily, did not result in much injury to the victims, A. R. Kennedy and R. E. Strawbridge. Both men were struck with the ball.

GOLF CHAMPION TRAVIS HERE.

Valter J. Travis returned on the Oceanic yesterday, bringing with him the silver cup he won at Sandwich, emblematic of the amateur golf championship of Great Britain. It will be in the custody of the Garden City Golf Club until next year. Only a few personal friends met Mr. Travis at the pier.

Mr. and Mrs. Travis came together down the gangplank and both seemed in splendid the gangplank and both seemed in splendid spirits. The golfing amateur was beaming with smiles, and for once there was nothing grave or stoical in his usual Indian-like expression. He wore a straight-brimmed Mackinaw straw hat, a sack suit of cheviot in the new shade dubbed "London smoke," and white golfing gloves-in all, a very spick

"The English critics seem to think you can use but one club, the putter," said one who greeted Travis.
"What nonsense!" said Travis. "Sandwich is notoriously a long driver's course, and nothing but an evenly balanced game could have won over the links. Why, on the second hole, the carry is 173 yards—the carry, mind you—and one must drive quite as far on nearly every hole.

"The only holes I had poor luck on were the ninth and tenth. Somehow, I simply could not play them right. But on the other holes I was in command of the situation." The two holes, respectively, are of 338 and 341 yards.

"When I left New York I did not really have much expectation of winning the champion-ship and none at all after the first two weeks of St. Andrews and North Berwick," Travis continued. "My game was extremely bad, at least half a stroke below normal. Nothing would go right.
"From the day of my arrival at Sandwich.

however, matters began to improve. In the St. George's vase competition I was playing fairly well with the exception of putting, which was still comparatively weak. Two days before the championship I discarded the putting cleek I had been using and took up an aluminum putter, borrowed from Mr. Phillips, who came over with us. It worked so well I decided to stick to it, although I am satisfied now that my regular putter would have done better work. It is not good policy, as Lincoln said, to 'swap horses while policy, as Lincoln said, to swap horses while crossing a stream.

"I won my first amateur championship match against H. H. Holden, a scratch man from Hoylake, without much trouble, and in the afternoon met James Robb, the St. Andrews golfer, who had a default from Gilbert, Whigham, his clubmate, in the morning. The morning round I played was in a teeming rain, and I had no time to change my clothing for the Robb match. My wooden clubs, too, were not improved by the soaking they had received. But the Lord was good, and after a hard fight the enemy was ours. I was dormie 2 and won by 1 up.

"An incident of this match was that my caddie, a green lad, when shouted to by Robb to pick up a flag, picked my ball up instead. A claim of four would hardly lie under the circumstances, nor did Robb ever think of "It is in vain for us to hope for great players being developed while our courses remain easy.

"Next year the championship meeting is at Prestwick—the best of the five championship courses, to my mind. At present, I have no intention of going across, much as I would like to.

"How about the open? Well, I took part, as you know, but didn't do well. I somehow couldn't manage to get myself worked up to take any interest in my doings. Sherlock's 71 the first day, and White's, Taylor's and Braid's performances on the last day were simply magnificent.

It the first day, and White's, Taylor's and Braid's performances on the last day were simply magnificent.

"A great deal of my success was due to the nenouragement and moral support of the Yankee 'gallery' I had with me. Simeon Ford as a trainer is as big a success as an after dinner speaker. His method of training was to feed me up with humorous ancedotes, iudiciously mingled with awe inspiring accounts of the marvellous plays made by the big guns I was likely to meet. The plan worked like a charm.

"Then, again, the knowledge that many a heart across the water was with David aided in keeping me up to concert pitch and in bringing about the downfall of Goliath.

"Would the amateur championship be improved by a qualifying round?"

"Most undoubtedly. And there are many golfers over there who would like to have to introduced.

"All things considered, the golfer whom I most admired as a player was Horace Hutchinson. Over here we have read so many of his books and spoken of him so long as a veteran, that one is surprised to find he is only 47 years old. "he plays every shot for what it is worth and in perfect style, as free as any supple youth, and, all told, I pronounce him to my mind the ideal golfer.

"There is absolutely no green in America to even remotely suggest Sandwich. It, with the other noted seaside links of Great Britain, is incomparable. Under such fine conditions there is little excuse for poor putting. But our best links are, if anything, better than the inland courses of Britain."

Travis will not attend the open championship at Glen View, July 8 and 9, according to his present plans, but he will be in the amateur at Baltusrol in September. He evinced a lively interest in the news that there was to be a tournament at Garden City, beginning to-day.

John Moller, Jr., went to Paris from Sandwich for the international tournament.

Professional Competition at the Nassau Country Club.

Ten of the leading professionals in the Metropolitan Golf Association territory met in the thirty-six hole invitation tournament in the thirty-six hole invitation tournament yesterday at the Nassau Country Club. In the morning the leaders were Will Anderson, 39, 34—73, and Isaac Mackie, 36, 37—73, while next in line was the home profess onal, Aleck Smith, 37, 37—74. A high wind was a factor in the afternoon, which made it difficult for many of the contestants to keep out of the rough. The best of the cards was Aleck Smith's 77, which won first money for him, with the total of 151.

There were three prizes subscribed, respectively of $80, $50 and $35. The summary: Aleck Smith (Western open champion), Apawamis, 73, 81—154; Stewart Gardner, Garden City. 77, 78—155; A. G. Ward and Wright in the Lead in the Crescent Tournament. The third day's play in the Crescent Athletic Club invitation lawn tennis tournement witnessed some fast tennis. The strong wind prevented the most accurate play, and considering this fact the skill of the contestants was remarkable.

By defeating George L. Wrenn, Jr., and William A. Larned, Holcombe Ward and Beals C. Wright are in the lead with two wins and no defeats. Yesterday they scored in straight sets with four games in each set to their op-ponents. The match was closer than the ponents. The match was closer than the score would indicate, with many of the games at deuce more than once. Both teams showed lack of practice together. For a team with so little practice together, ward and Wright made a strong showing. They were forced hard in each set but had just a bit the better of it each time. The winners played a stiff net game, forcing their opponents to the back of the court. Beals Wright made some timely kills at the net.

The Princeton combination, Little and Alexander, maintained the winning pace of the day before, defeating Stephen C. Millett and Clarence Hobart, three sets to one. In a hard fought four set match, ex-Champion and Clarence Hobart, three sets to one. In a hard fought four set match, ex-Champion Malcolm Whitman and R. H. Carleton won against the former Yale champions, Hacket and Allen. Both have a long reach and were able to return some difficult places.
